(b) includes -
(i) any conduct whereby, in return for a gratification, a person does or neglects from doing an act in contravention of his public duties;

All the sections of the law penalizing corruption offences are described in sections 4 to 17 of the Prevention of Corruption Act 2002, as amended. These include bribery by public official, bribery of public official, taking gratification to screen an offender from punishment, public official using his office for gratification, “trafic d’influence” and conflict of interests.

7.0 Responsibilities for implementing the Policy

The responsibility to develop and coordinate the implementation of the Policy shall rest upon the Anti-Corruption Committee (ACC) established for the purpose. The ACC shall set priorities, provide advice when ethical issues arise and communicate the policy to all levels of management and staff.

The Anti-Corruption Committee - The Committee shall comprise members from both operational and support departments of the Ministry.

The Chairperson being the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry or a Senior Officer delegated by him, shall lead the project and chair all meetings. The ACC shall be responsible for coordinating and implementing the Anti-Corruption Policy. It shall develop a time-bound programme with clear and precise deliverables and execute it once approved by top management. The Ministry shall designate an officer to act as Secretary to the Committee.

The Committee shall meet on a regular basis, preferably every two months or as decided by the Chairperson of the ACC. The Committee shall decide upon the setting up of sub-committees to assist in the implementation of any initiatives.

Role of Management - It is the responsibility of top management or Heads of Departments to promote the Anti-Corruption Policy within their areas of operation. Managers are expected to actively deter, prevent and detect corruption by maintaining effective control systems and ensuring that their staff are familiar with the Policy.

Role of Employees - Each employee shall read, be familiar with and strictly comply with the Policy. The Ministry shall ensure that each employee is provided with a copy of this Policy or otherwise has on-line access.

Role of Internal Audit – The Internal Audit has the responsibility to ensure the effectiveness and adequacy of the Internal Control System in place. It should ensure that system is subject to regular audit to provide assurance that they are effective in countering corruption opportunities.

8.0 Risk Assessment

The Ministry of Business, Enterprise and Cooperatives is conscious that the risk of corruption may occur in every sphere of its activities and may evolve in the light of changing circumstances and working environment. In its endeavour to proactively address risks of corruption, the Ministry shall ensure that a proper risk management process is in place. Risk assessment should focus on a thorough analysis of the functional activities in close collaboration with officers involved in the process with a view to identifying potential or actual corruption risk areas. With respect to risk identified, necessary corruption prevention measures including policies and procedures should be developed to address the risks. The responsibility to plan, coordinate and monitor the risk management process rests with the ACC.

9.0 Corruption Risk Management

The Corruption Risk Management (CRM) is the process of recognizing and analyzing risks of corruption and developing methods to both minimize and manage those risks. This process consists of four main steps:

i. Identifying the risks;
ii. Analyzing, evaluating and prioritizing those risks;
iii. Managing, treating or eliminating them; and
iv. Monitoring and Review
A risk management approach to corruption prevention is appropriate because it helps to identify structural weaknesses that may give rise to corruption and provides a systematic approach for all staff to take part in the process. The CRM process helps to identify corruption risks and the likelihood of its occurrence and brings in measures to eradicate or mitigate the risks.

10.0 Handling and Reporting Corruption

Reporting suspected cases of corruption - Notwithstanding Section 44(1) of the Prevention of Corruption Act 2002, as amended, which provides that where an officer of a public body suspects that an act of corruption has been committed within or in relation to that public body, he shall forthwith make a written report to the ICAC. The Ministry shall put in place measures that shall facilitate the reporting of suspected cases.

Section 45 of the PoCA 2002, as amended provides that where in the exercise of his functions, the chief executive of a public body is of the opinion that an act of corruption may have occurred, he may refer the matter to the ICAC for investigation.

The Ministry may set up a committee to assist the Permanent Secretary or Supervising Officer in determining whether there is reasonable doubt for suspicion of corruption prior to referral of the case to the ICAC for investigation.

Confidentiality - Information pertaining to complaints shall not be disclosed to any unauthorised party.

11.0 Protection of Whistleblowers

There will be no reprisal by Management against “the public official” who in good faith reports an act of corruption or malpractice or suspected illegal and dishonest activity or any activity that he/she has witnessed. However, disciplinary actions may be taken against any person who knowingly has made any false allegation.

13.0 Training and Communication

The Ministry recognises that the success and credibility of this Policy depends on effective training, communication and the awareness of management and employees throughout the Ministry. Management should ensure that the Anti-Corruption Policy is clearly disseminated to all staff and that its contents are understood.

14.0 Review of Policy

This Policy will be reviewed annually or earlier if necessary or in the event of any changes in the laws and regulations that are relevant to the Ministry. The Chairperson of the ACC should recommend the review to the Permanent Secretary/Supervising Officer as applicable.
